EDMONTON, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1952

LAST WEEK Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent visited Edmonton on a quick tour of Alberta and British Columbia. During his comparatively short period in office as Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. St. Laurent has done a considerable amount of traveling in the interests of Canada, at home and abroad. Above he is shown on a recent trip to Washington, D.C. where he discussed with President Truman Canada's intention to proceed with the St. Lawrence Waterways program alone, if necessary.

35 STUDENTS AWARDED $16,000 IN SCHOLARSHIPS

STURGEON SCHOOL DIVISION HAS FULL STAFF FOR SCHOOL OPENING

The regular monthly meeting of the Divisional Board of the Sturgeon School Division was held on Thursday, Sept. 4 at the Divisional Office, Morinville. All members of the Board were present except Mr. Neil Ross. Superintendent Scott and Mr. Meaden, secretary-treasurer, were present.

The chairman called the meeting to order at ten o'clock.

On the motion of Mr. McCue the regular monthly accounts as prepared by the secretary-treasurer were ordered paid.

Superintendent Scott reported all teaching vacancies filled. Newly appointed teachers were Mrs. Cecilia Horton, Glenagarry Junior room; Mrs. Margaret Hauge, Saskatchewan school Junior room; Mrs. Helen Hennevey to Promenade school and Mrs. Daphne Kerr to Green Willow school.

On the motion of Mr. Cunningham contract for the operation of the school bus for the Granger school district was awarded to Harold Granger. On the motion of Mr. McCue the contract for the operation of the school bus for the Cloverdale and Horthfield school districts was awarded to Henry Onushko, and for the St. Eugene school district and part of Cloverdale to William Tkachuk.

On the motion of Mr. Meester, the auditor's second quarterly cash statement was approved.

On the motion of Mr. Chauvet, it was decided to accept pupils from the Gilt Grant school district to the Dunrobin school at Vimy as at September, 1952, provided the Thorild school division will reimburse the Sturgeon school division for the cost of school bus operation for the Gilt Grant district, and also pay tuition fees for the December term. Transfer of the Gilt Grant district from the Thorild division to the Sturgeon division will be agreed to, provided the school furniture and equipment, also the teacherage, are included in the transfer, which will be effective January 1, 1953.

On the motion of Mr. Chauvet it was decided to charge tuition fees to parents of non-residents attending divisional schools according to the scale of fees authorized by the School Act 1952, Section 218. These fees are payable in advance, at the beginning of the December term (in September) and at the beginning of the June term (in January). All principals are to be notified of this ruling.

On the motion of Mr. Allen it was decided to increase the amount paid for assistance to parents towards the cost of tuition fees in the Edmonton Public School Board schools and the Edmonton Separate School Board schools; the new scale to be based on three dollars per credit to a maximum of $105; to be paid for any credits not offered in the divisional school which the pupil would ordinarily attend.

It was decided to install a new turn-out in the Calahoo school (old Teller building) at a cost of $406.50; this installation to be made by Keeler's Sheet Metal, of Edmonton.

Estimates are to be made for a heating system for the divisional office, with the installation of natural gas.

The offer of Frank Hickey for the school barn in the Saskatchewan school district in the sum of $132.50 was accepted.

It was decided to advertise tenders for the sale of the school barn at St. Eugene, and for the school-house, barn, coal shed and site at Granger school district.

The date for the next meeting was set for Thursday, October 2, to commence at eight o'clock in the morning if weather is fine, otherwise at ten o'clock.

A Striking Contrast

On Monday night of last week, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada attended the football game in Edmonton with Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta. While the Alberta premier held the ball, the aging prime minister (70 years old) gave it the best kick he could, which resulted in what the sports writers term a "dribble".

The thought of a Social Credit premier holding the ball for a Liberal prime minister gave Mr. St. Laurent the idea for a wise crack. Substance of this was that in Ottawa he usually feels that he is holding the ball for the provincial premiers to kick at!

This all makes for a good-fellow feeling among Canadians and we can hardly imagine any Canadian government leader, on whatever level of local, provincial or federal politics he happens to be, refusing to take part in a football kick-off.

Readers will remember, however, that last fall—a year ago—His Royal Highness, Duke of Edinburgh, Consort to Queen Elizabeth, flatly refused to kick-off in the football game put on for the Royal visitors. Evidently the Prince felt he was too good to identify himself with the common football player. The attitude of a Royal Prince who can take no credit for personal achievement for his success is a striking contrast to the attitudes of men who have risen in public life to positions of honor and responsibility by their own hard work.

Whether we like to admit it or not, the Canadian way of life has little or no place in it for nose-snubbing royalty. Perhaps the only reason we tolerate it at all is that it is so many miles away from us and seldom bothers to come here and inspect its "subjects".

It Might Have Been

Last month the dominion bureau of statistics issued its estimate of grain production in Canada. The total works out to about 1,446,000,000 bushels of grain for the nation and 1,302,000,000 bushels for the prairie provinces.

In the years when the speculative system of grain marketing was in full swing, the announcement of such enormous production would be calamitous. If past experience is any criterion, markets would "nose-dive" and farmers would go into the harvest season with worried brows.

In past years farmers always disliked to hear estimates of record crop production. They knew what such news stories would do to the market. Last week's government estimates, however, did not cause a ripple of excitement among farm people. They know that the Wheat Board initial price has been fixed and support levels, even although they are quite modest, are in effect on oats and barley.

It is past experience that has caused the great majority of grain producers in Western Canada to cling to the Wheat Board. In the plebiscite held in Manitoba last autumn, in which 67 per cent of the eligible farmers voted, 89 per cent voted in favor of the Wheat Board marketing their oats and barley.

Note and Comment

In Canada the potato acreage this year totals 294,000 compared with 284,900 last year, an increase of 3 per cent.

Shipments of grain from the lakehead in the 1951-52 crop year (with one week remaining), totaling 410 million bushels, were the second highest on record. In the 1944-45 crop year lake shipments amounted to 490.2 million bushels.

Ordinarily the railway companies have a large supply of grain cars in Manitoba when harvesting starts. The situation is different this year, as most boxcars are in Saskatchewan and Alberta in an effort by the railways to ease congestion in those two provinces.

Those D.P.'s

No one would argue about the fact that Canada needs more people, must have them, indeed, if the nation's resources are to be developed and the nation is to fulfill her destiny.

Yet one hears murmurings across the land on the part of some Canadians that those D.P.'s are taking jobs that rightfully belong to native-born men and women. Such an attitude merely indicates superficial thinking from a selfish point of view.

It is true, perhaps, that there are individual, perhaps isolated cases of newcomers from Europe or other parts of this continent obtaining jobs that Canadians might well regard as theirs. But in the nation-wide picture the fact is that the more new-Canadians arrive in our land, the more jobs there will be for these men and women and their families require food and housing and, in time, all the other things that Canadians today regard as necessities. Thus markets are extended for both farm and manufactured products, making for greater work opportunities.

The very term "Displaced Person" has come, unfortunately, to have a tinge of disapprobation. It is time it were dropped in referring to people from other lands who come to Canada to make their home.

Not so long ago we overheard a bit of beefing because Indians were being employed on a certain construction job. The Indians were spoken of as D.P.'s. That of course is very funny for who has more right to the term Canadian than the descendants of the tribes here long before the white man appeared on the scene?

Looking back a bit in our history, we find that Canada as we know it was built by men and women from old lands of Europe and Asia. And Canadians today who look askance at the arrival of immigrants forget that they, too, are the descendants of earlier D.P.'s.

Canada's population is a mixture of nationalities and from that mixture is arising a nation not quite like any that exists or ever has existed. Canada is young. Confederation is only a short 85 years old; and the evolution from colonial status to nationhood gained momentum only since World War I.

Newcomers, D.P.'s, are bringing with them to our land new skills, new ideas, a willingness to work hard, an ardent desire to participate in the freedoms and opportunities for development that are ours.

Canadians must welcome them, help them to become assimilated. And Canada must have millions more men and women from crowded Great Britain and European countries, from the United States and perhaps, from Asia to people our vast empty spaces and to help us build a great nation in the northern part of this continent.

But let's stop calling these new citizens D.P.'s; let's call them what they are, new Canadians.

The Law Pokes Along

(From the Calgary Albertan)

More than twenty-one months ago a natural gas explosion at Leduc took several lives and injured several other persons. Within a short time law-suits were started on behalf of the killed and the injured. Now it is announced from Edmonton that "it is not expected that any of them will go to trial before early next year" that is, until at least twenty-six months after the accident.

In the meantime what are the claimants supposed to live on? Not one cent has been paid to them in all this time, even those who were deprived of their entire livelihood.

If civil actions are usually stalled as this one has been, then justice is indeed pretty deficient in Alberta. The responsible branches of the judicial machinery ought to be ashamed of themselves. Why can't these things be cleared up in reasonable time?

Voice of the People

FROM GAY PARÉE

We are four very handsome Canadian airmen on leave in Paris. And we might as well tell you girls back home that you don't rate when it comes to these Parisian beauties. Don't even bother writing us any more, girls, now that we've seen these beautiful mannequins.

THE DASHING FOUR

WHAT THEY REJECTED

You say in an editorial (Aug. 15th) that in the recent voting "Albertans generally condone the poor roads . . .", that they "do not want a reduction in municipal taxes," and that they "turned down rural electrification with interest free loans."

If this is true, then they turned down much more than that. With respect to the last item above, the CCF proposed public power lines free of charge. The CCF also proposed $10 a year car and health insurance.

However, the people who voted SC probably believe Manning will do the best possible on these matters and the Premier now has big money behind him to help perpetuate this idea at election time.

It should be more thoroughly shown that Manning has never yet kept a set of election promises. He uses them for vote baiting, and after the election we get only excuses. He did not keep his 1948 promises re reduced taxes, municipal aid, power, farm stability, etc., and he will not keep his 1952 promises either.

This is because Social Credit is now on such good terms with people such as the "big oil producers" who, as quoted by Time, Aug. 12, 1952, "approve of Manning's handling of Alberta's rich oil resources."

If the oil producers approve, the rest of us have grounds for disapproval. When this becomes more generally realized, then the voters will make it more clear what they are really "turning down."

And in Lac Ste. Anne, the majority have already turned thumbs down on Manning, by a score of 8027 to 1639 on the first count. Especially to those 1878 who gave the CCF their support on the first, second and third counts, go my most sincere thanks, and the promise that so long as Manning continues to put big business interests ahead of ours, so long will we keep up the fight against him.

O.A.P. WOES

Old age pensions go to all at age 70. Yet, all the poor souls born in Canada up to now can look forward to a life expectancy of less than 70 years. Besides, the holy bonus quits at 16 and the O.A.P. doesn't start until 54 years later. How are we going to get along in the meantime? Social security? Bah! What we need is Social Credit, plenty of money and no work.

DAILY BAPTISMS

To curb moral delinquency and help the moral rearmament program let the public know there are churches they may join and be baptized any day. This is too important to be relegated to one day a week. Joining a church is a personal matter between the person and God; it does not have to be a public affair. Many people are self-conscious about doing things in public and do not join.

Prize Money Returned To Crippled Children's Fund

BON ACCORD — The rain and muddy roads on Friday, August 29, hurt the attendance at the CPIN Barn Dance. However, it didn't dampen the spirits of the crowd which enjoyed the old-time music and dancing.

Mr. Wright, jovial master of ceremonies with the orchestra, kept everyone on the hop! Three sets entered the square dance competition. Winners were in set No. 2, with dancers, Mr. and Mrs. Slim Rodney, Miss Doreen Samis and Lionel Berard, Miss Raymonde Herard and Gil Lusier, Miss Sylvia Burbank and Ken Macdonald.

Second prize honors went to a set of young folks from Nannoo.

It was a treat to watch the square dancers in action. They kept perfect time to the music and followed the "caller's" directions. The winners, like good sports, turned the prize money back to the Crippled Children's fund.

Here's wishing the team "good luck" when they enter the finals in Edmonton later in the season.

There are 240,000 collective farms in Russia. The average size is 2,700, on which there are 200 households. The number is 300.

Battle Of Britain ...

Canadians who fought in the Battle of Britain were young men who had crossed the Atlantic in pre-war days to enrol in the R.A.F. and served in units of that Force. There were, however, two fighter squadrons which bore the name Canadian. One was No. 242 (Canadian) Squadron of the R.A.F., composed of Canadian fighter pilots in the R.A.F.; the other was No. 1 (Fighter) Squadron of the R.C.A.F. (later designated No. 401) which had arrived in Britain on the eve of the Battle. Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh C. T. Dowding, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., C.M.G., who was Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief of Fighter Command during the Battle of Britain, in his despatch paid tribute to the two Canadian Squadrons. No. 242, he wrote, "became one of the foremost fighting squadrons in the Command." No. 1 (Canadian) Squadron also came into the line and acquitted itself with great distinction.

No complete figures are available for Canadian participation in the Battle, but taking the ratio of casualties as an indication it would appear that approximately three-out of every hundred aircraft were from this Dominion.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am in love with a man who has asked me to marry him but I am hesitating about accepting him because he has been married before and I am afraid that he is still in love with his divorced wife. She has not remarried and I do not know why they parted.
Do you think that if I married him he would forget his ex-wife or do you think I am making a mistake by thinking of marrying him?

Answer:

You do not say why you think he is still in love with his former wife, but you must have some good reason for believing that to be true. If he is, I am afraid that you will be building up unhappiness for yourself by such a marriage and I should not rush into it hastily if I were you. It may be that he is lonesome and unhappy and is turning to you on the rebound.

Of course, there are cases where young people rush into marriage before they realize what it is all about and are not happy until they do separate.

But you should be able to judge your young man's feelings by the way he behaves and what he says.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am a widow with three small children and a man ten years older than I has proposed to me.
He is very considerate of me and seems devoted to the children.
The children like him too but my mother says that we are all getting along well staying with father and her and she doesn't see why I want to risk another unhappy marriage.

But this man and my first husband are very different people.
My husband was very gay and irresponsible and we never knew whether the bills would be paid or not.

What do you think?

MRS. G. L.

Answer:

There is certainly no sense in judging all men by one who was lacking in good traits. And, if this man loves you and your children and can provide you with a nice home you and your children's lives will be more normal and happier it seems to me, than they are living with your parents.

You will certainly have more time to give to your children if your husband is paying the bills than you will if you have to work outside the home.

LOUISA.

What's In The Name?

BEISEKER

Named after Thomas L. Beiseker, banker, of Fessenden, North Dakota, who lived in the area for 10 years and was largely responsible for the settlement of the region with successful farmers.

The village of Beiseker is situated in a farming region some 41 miles west of Drumheller. The population in 1946 was 272.

ATHABASCA

The town of Athabasca, 100 miles north of Edmonton, has a population of around 1,063 people. The main type of occupation carried on within the area is mixed farming.

Athabasca town changed its name from Athabasca Landing in 1904. The name was derived from an Indian word "caupawin",
a Cree name meaning "landing".

In reference to the Athabasca river, when the Indian spoke the word "Athabasca" he meant "the place where there are reeds." When probably he also mentioned the word "Athabasca", he had in mind the muddy delta of that river.

As early as 1849 the R.C.
Church opened a mission in the district, but it was not until 1865 that a trading post was established and named Athabasca Landing. The actual history goes back to 1802 when it was the Hudson's Bay Company Reserve.
Goods were trailed in from Fort Edmonton at the time.

Between 1900 and 1914 there

I was shopping one day, and on my way home I stopped at the store. I put my shopping bag down and walked to the next counter.
In the meantime someone put her shopping bag beside mine, when I came back, I noticed an extra parcel in my shopping bag. I picked it up, and it unwrapped and fell out. I stared at it—and then I said—who in the heck! Just then an old lady came along and picked it up and said, "It's mine. She had misplaced it. I really was embarrassed—You see, it was a big pair of bloomers!"

When I was reading a book at noon hour in school, one of my friends came up quietly and hit me on the head with a broom and then ran outside. I quickly grab-the door ready to hit when he would come in. I heard footsteps, and then the door opened. Whack!

But who did I just about hit but were so many traders operating out of Athabasca Landing, as it was known, that five boats plied

the river to McMurray.

The first train arrived from Edmonton in 1912 and the people who went out to cheer it, went out again the next year to fight a fire which nearly destroyed the entire town of Athabasca.

The Care of Farm-Stored Grain

The farmers of Western Canada are faced with the problem of storing a considerable portion of the 1952 crop on the farm, probably for long periods. Is your granary ready for the safe storage of this year's crop?

Packing Facts. As yet, the only practical means of insuring the keeping quality of grain is to store it at a sufficiently low moisture content to prevent spoiling. The fact is that uniformly dry grain (13 per cent moisture or lower for wheat, oats, barley and rye; and 10 per cent moisture or lower for flax) will not spoil, providing it is stored in a clean, well-ventilated, well-ventilated granary. Bin your grain as dry as possible.

Preparing that Granary. Here are some practical suggestions from Dr. P. E. Gray, Head, Stored Product Insect Investigations, Ottawa. (1) A granary with a wooden floor above the ground is best for farm storage.

(2) If the granary floor is concrete, cover it with moisture proof paper. (3) Repair leaky roofs, windows, and doors to exclude rain and snow. (4) Clean walls and floors thoroughly. Sprinkle a little hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it about to fill cracks. (5) If white-wash or lime are present last year, coat the inside walls with white-wash containing one-quarter of a pound of lye per gallon. (6) Fill the granary to the plate only. Airspace between the grain surface and the roof must be provided for ventilation. (7) Open bins or piles are risky. If at all possible, place on well-drained ground on two or three feet of thoroughly dry straw. Piles should be uniform cones.

If you have to store "tough" or green seed-infested grain, put it in small bins. Examine it frequently, and market it as soon as possible. If trouble develops, consult your local elevator Agent, or write to: Officer-in-Charge, Stored Product Insect Investigations, Canada Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg or Ottawa.

131 Bushels Said Wheat Yield

LONDON—A wheat crop of 131 bushels to the acre, believed to be a world record, has been claimed by John Turrell, a farmer in the Wigenhall St. Mary district of Norfolk.

The yield was harvested from a strip of land of approximately nine acres, formerly an orchard and seeded to wheat for the first time this year.

The huge crop represents more than three times the average acreage yield in Britain. The previous highest known yield was 114 bushels reported from The Netherlands last year.

Colonel C. A. Debenham of King's Lynn, who provided the seed, said the strain sown was known as Hybrid 45, a lower-quality grain used mainly for biscuits. He ascribed the phenomenal yield to the richness of the soil and first-class farming.

St. Albert Gas Rates are among the lowest of any Canadian town. And this is in spite of the fact that Alberta has grown by leaps and bounds these last few years and expanding the service has cost millions—Seventeen Million Dollars in the last 5 years.

But more than the cost of expanding the service, maintenance costs have increased—expensive equipment and more personnel are required to make sure that gas, the world's most practical fuel, is there when you want it.

Natural gas is still your biggest bargain!
